

The Tasmanian Community & School Gardening Network is pleased to invite you to the 2nd Annual

Growing Communities Conference 2008

SEEDS of CHANGE

You are a seed of change! Growing food is a great way to combat climate change, build our communities, connect with the earth, improve health and rejuvenate ourselves. Come learn how to create and maintain community and school gardens, inspire the next generation of gardeners, network with others from around the State, and see how gardens can contribute to a better world!

When: 6 & 7 December 2008

Where: Lenah Valley Primary School & Creek Road Community Garden

What: Two days of panel discussions, hands on workshops, kids activities, films, field trips and group reflections, focussing on education and community building through gardening.

Special Guests Include:

Linda Cockburn - Author of "Living the Good Life"

Steve Solomon - Author of "Growing Vegetables South of Australia"

Sally Wise - ABC Radio presenter and author of "A Year in a Bottle"

Cost: $70 ($35 part-time employed, $20 concession, $10 kids)

Includes all workshops, morning and afternoon tea, lunch and growing communities pack

BOOKINGS ESSENTIAL!

For further information please contact

Sustainable Living Tasmania on 6234 5566 or lissa@sustainablelivingtasmania.org.au

Registration forms available from www.tasmanianenvironmentcentre.org.au/growingcommunities or

Sustainable Living Tasmania, 2nd floor, 191 Liverpool Street, Hobart

SUPPORTED BY

